

What You need to Know about Overdrafts and Overdraft Fees

An overdraft occurs when you do not have enough money in your account to cover a transaction, but we pay it anyway.

We can cover your overdrafts in two different ways:

1. We have standard overdraft practices that come with your account*.
2. We also offer overdraft protection plans, such as a link to a savings account or an overdraft line of credit, which may be less expensive than our standard overdraft practices. To learn more, ask us about these plans.

This notice explains our standard overdraft practices (also called Overdraft Privilege (ODP) Service).

What are the standard overdraft practices that come with my account?

We do strive to authorize and pay overdrafts for the following types of transactions:

- Checks and other transactions made using your checking account number
- Automatic bill payments

We do not authorize and pay overdrafts for the following types of transactions unless you ask us to (see below):

- ATM transactions
- Everyday debit card transactions

We pay overdrafts at our discretion, which means we do not guarantee that we will always authorize and pay any type of transaction. If we do not authorize and pay an overdraft, your transaction will be declined.

What fees will I be charged if MidCountry Bank pays my overdraft?

Under our standard overdraft practices:

- We will charge you a fee up to $35 each time we pay an overdraft.
- We may charge up to $175 daily for paid overdraft items.
- Also, if your account is overdrawn for 5 or more consecutive business days, we may charge an additional $6 per day for a maximum of 10 days.

What fees will I be charged if MidCountry Bank does not pay my overdraft?

- A Non-Sufficient Funds (NSF) fee will apply only when items are presented for payment for which there are insufficient funds to pay.
- We will charge you a fee up to $35 each time we return an item for Non-Sufficient Funds (NSF). You may also be charged a fee by the party that presented the item for payment.

You may be able to avoid these fees by applying for a line of credit or transfer arrangement with us to cover your overdrafts.

You have no obligation to participate in our ODP Service. You may opt in or out of the ODP Service at any time*. If you do not want us to consider payment of your occasional overdrafts, it will be our normal practice to deny the authorization or payment of any of these items for you.

What if I want MidCountry Bank to authorize and pay overdrafts on my ATM and everyday debit card transactions?

If you opt into the ODP Service, you may also opt in or out of the payment of one-time ATM and everyday debit card transactions at the same time under the same NSF fee guidelines.
